

The Collection

spring twenty twelve

Serena's paintings are created by hand using watercolor pigment on paper. The compositions are fashioned by interconnecting patterns of color and concentric shapes where structures split, bubbles stack, and pyramids multiply. Each artwork must strike a balance between layers of color, repetitive contour lines, and the inherent qualities of the all the materials she employs.

swirl

calm seas

